

I began to document the encroachment from 2016 when I saw the water body being filled up with construction debris in April of that year (April 2016)

The approach road to the pond going next to Don Bosco was now a concrete road from a mud pathway that it previously was. (January 2018)

A compound wall has now come up around this encroached water body complete with a shed for a worker to stay. (February 2018)
